We, the graduating class of 1969, are proud to dedicate The Lamp to Mr. Paul Guy.

Mr. Guy came to Parkview five years ago to assume his duties as personnel director. He is a graduate of International College, attended Ohio State University, and is now taking courses at St. Francis College in Fort Wayne. He is also an Air Force veteran having served in World War II.

Having an avid interest in people, Mr. Guy is quite active in community affairs. In his "spare" time, he coaches the Wildcats little league team. He also participates in Scouting and DeMolay, as well as taking part in various church activities.

Mr. Guy's ready smile and cheery "hello" have meant much to us these past three years. By way of this dedication, we wish to thank him for making our days a little brighter.

DEDICATION—1969

"Every person should be happy in what he's doing." This is Mr. Guy's philosophy on life, and he typifies it well. His smile has sent each of us on our way with a smile on our own face. He has served as an inspiration and a friend to all of us.

“It Was a Very Good Year”

1969 Sees a

Parkview Methodist School of Nursing has become a dynamic force in the community. The students are becoming involved in the changing times and, as the student's needs change, the school changes to meet these needs. Everywhere one looked this year there was something new, something different. A new world was opening for us and we boldly stepped forward to assume our places in it. We saw:

New uniforms made life at work much more comfortable for the student nurse. 1969 saw a complete change over from the old starched bibs and skirts to the new one-piece shifts.

A new cafeteria enabled students and staff to be served with speed and to dine with leisure in attractive dining rooms.

Change in Life

For the second time in the history of Parkview Methodist School of Nursing, a male student registered.

The psychiatric affiliation was taken here at the home school. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Carol Warner, students studied the nurse's role in care of the psychiatric patient.

Phil Fisher, training director, and Dave Ridderheim, assistant administrator, inspect equipment installed to facilitate teaching of interns from Indiana University School of Medicine. The intern program was set up by Dr. Franklin Bryan and was the first such program to be seen at Parkview.

At Parkview

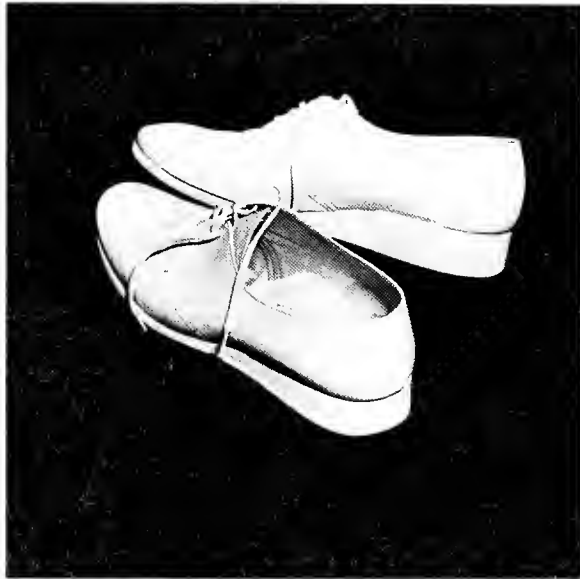

Open houses were held at English Hall to present all aspects of a student nurse's life and education.

Still other changes occurred. Mrs. Dorothy Craig became Director of Nursing Education . . . a new curriculum was set up . . . students took a new interest in Indiana Association of Nursing Students and Fort Wayne Council of Colleges. In the dormitory students became better friends through bathtub stuffings, football games, and sing-ins. As the world changed, so changed the student nurse.

The year 1968-1969 has seen an important change in the lives of Parkview nursing students. They became vitally interested in their world outside of nursing. One could hear discussions about politics, the war, economics. The nurse is playing a major role in today's society and as students we have attempted to define that role.

But, as we entered this new sphere of change, we were also surrounded by things we do and see everyday. The mundane, the ordinary. The things that make us feel at home.

A pair of white duty shoes.

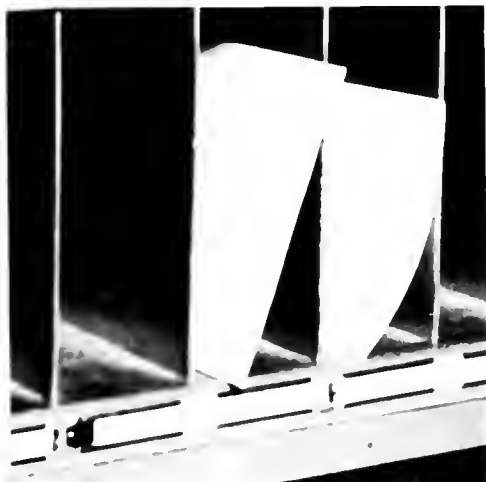

A bulletin board packed with memories.

The key to a room you're tired of looking at.

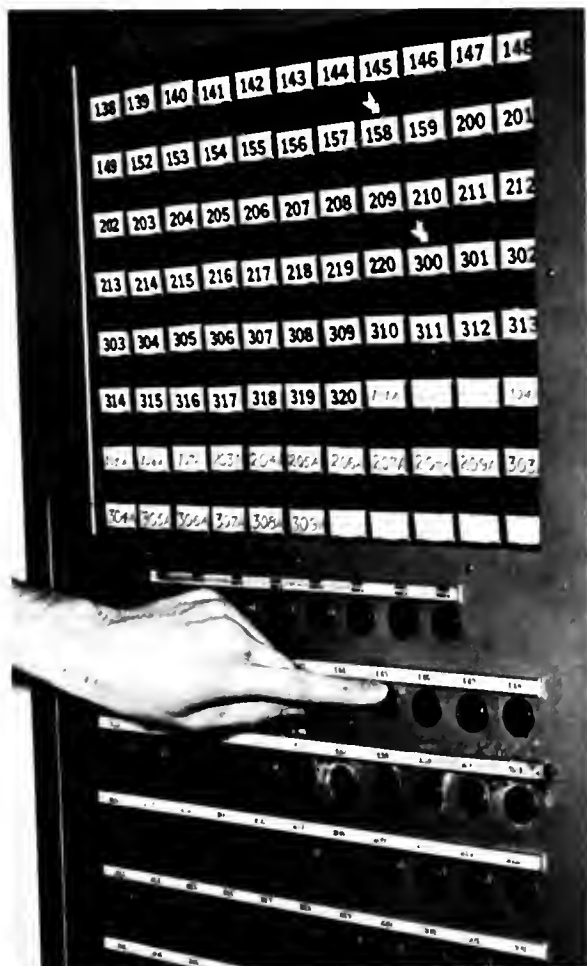

The phone call you've been waiting for.

A "personal" containing a dime.

A half-smoked cigarette.

The sound of a buzzer.

A fire in the fireplace.

A shower that turns cold after 10 P.M.

A door to walk through.

A cold RC late at night.

Administration Changes

Miss Marie Kolter, Director of Nursing.

Mr. Mark Slen, Administrator, and Mr. Dan Rissing, former Administrative Assistant, inspect the blood bank in the new laboratory.

Public Relations director Mr. Joe Hochderffer, proofreads a copy for publication.

Administration strived to improve the life of the student nurse. Quarterly meetings were held with students to keep them abreast of what was happening in and around Parkview. The administration saw a busy year. Construction was begun on the south wings of the hospital. Plans were made to facilitate visitor parking and parking lots were added for employees. The decor of the hospital was modernized . . . Laboratory procedures were done by the "chemical robot". Throughout the hospital complex, new things were done and student nurses profited by these changes.

Our Environment

Board of Directors; Herbert W. Cooper, President.

Doctors are many things to many people. Patients depend on them . . . R.N.'s love them . . . other doctors respect them . . . ward clerks tolerate them . . . supervisors humor them . . . and student nurses worship them. They come in assorted shapes and sizes. They may be attired in anything from scrub pants and a sports jacket to a turtleneck sweater. They have a unique talent for turning up at the wrong places at the right times (in the middle of a patient's bath or in the clean utility room when a group of students are discussing last night's party). One minute they scold you and the next minute they put their arm around you. One of their greatest joys in life is teaching and they are the most tolerant when a med error has been made. Even though they disgust us sometimes and scare us most of the time, we love them dearly and admire them even more. They are an integral part of every student nurse's life and we will be eternally grateful to the doctors of Parkview.

Along with Drs. Alvin Haley and Richard Juergens, Mrs. Esther Mossburg provides health services for ill staff and students.

Faculty Revises

Mrs. Craig, Director of Nursing Education.

This year Parkview Methodist School of Nursing was headed by a new Director of Nursing Education. Mrs. Dorothy Craig took over in June of 1968. Since then she has provided help and guidance to the students. It has also been her goal to provide a first-rate school. It is through her efforts that changes have become possible and the community has become aware of student nurses and their roles.

This year the faculty endeavored to expand the scope of the student's learning. Emphasis was placed on individuality and determining of one's role in the community. A new avenue of communication opened between the students and the faculty making this "a very good year."

Mrs. Joan Dever, professional adjustments instructor, "relaxes" between classes.

Mrs. Violet Baker, obstetrics instructor, leaves the dorm to supervise students on the clinical area.

Curriculum

Mrs. Sally Goermar, professional adjustments instructor, gets a bite to eat before returning to emergency room and the intensive care unit.

Mrs. Letha Lederman, instructor in pediatrics, prepares for class.

Psychiatric instructor, Mrs. Carol Warner, sets up a new course in psychiatric nursing.

Mrs. Jane Ervin assists students in their studies by keeping the library up to date.

To Meet

Mrs. Marian Miller, E.E.N.T. instructor, gets caught at the candy machine. In December, Mrs. Miller was replaced by Miss Anna Carey.

Mrs. Norma Alexander helps students overcome their fear of surgery.

Mrs. Florence Osterhout, orthopedics and neurology instructor, assumed the duties of Mrs. Donna Mayers in December.

Mrs. Barbara Woodring "puts up her feet" before teaching her class on the gastro-intestinal system.

Student Needs

In September, Mrs. Judith Notestine joined the faculty as cardiovascularrenal instructor.

Endocrine instructor, Mrs. Sharon Wolf, demonstrates proper method of drawing up insulin.

Mrs. Susan Tarr co-ordinates classes for freshmen students.

Mrs. Marita Pitstick leaves for home after a busy day of teaching freshman students.

Miss Margaret Hathaway scans magazines for articles which would be helpful to freshmen students.

Miss Patricia Kuhs meditates on a lecture for the freshman class.

Housemothers, Edna Davison, Florence Powell, and Lulu Lehman lend students a helping hand and a soft shoulder.

Secretaries, Mrs. Loreine Godfrey and Mrs. Gertrude Weber, help keep the school organized and running smoothly.

ACTIVITIES

Sports Highlights

FRONT ROW (left to right): L. Schatz, S. Highley, C. Anders, B. Marden, K. Fuelling, K. Noneman, C. Friend, and C. Lyon. BACK ROW: C. Miller, T. Rausch, and M. Sunderman.

For the first time in the history of the school, Parkview Methodist School of Nursing hosted a homecoming football game. On a chilly September night, the seniors went forth to meet the underclassmen in a rough and tumble game of tackle football. The underclassmen were leading 6--0 when the star seniors fullback was tackled and suffered a broken ankle. The Seniors conceded defeat in the face of the tragedy.

Underclassmen, better known as the "Fleets", cheer their players on to victory.

Toni Rausch, the fallen hero, sports a beautiful full-leg cast. "But", she says, "it was really a lot of fun".

Student Government

Under the able leadership of Toni Rausch, the Student Council saw a year of improved school spirit and unity. The students were kept informed of changes being made and, as a result, the student body functioned as a single unit. Members of the Student Council are: (SEATED left to right): Beth Jerome, Secretary; Rosanna Yoder, Second Vice President; Toni Rausch, President; Kris Fuelling, First Vice President, and Judy Pancake, Treasurer. (FIRST ROW): Alice Mosier, Connie Howard, Donelle Strand, Gayle Leslie, Patricia Yoder, Sheila Downey, Brenda Haggerty, Peggy Balsbaugh, Rachel Harmon, Cheryl Lyon, Debbie Brudi, Lynn Ward, Janice Sparks. (SECOND ROW): Rita Rhors, Darlene Bergdoll, Janice Hamblen, Linda Yoder, Barbara Rowe, Mary Cotterman, Rhonda Christner, Ruth Ann Davenport, Linda Schatz, Sharon Sutter, Jan Smith, and Sharon Hackworth.

Four students represented Parkview Methodist School of Nursing at Council of Colleges, an organization representative of the 10,000 college students in Ft. Wayne. These students included: Rosanna Yoder, Lynn Ward, Toni Rausch, and Kris Fuelling.

Extracurricular

The Judiciary Board provides students with fair representation in interpretation of rules established by the student body. Judiciary Board members are (SEATED): Linda Schatz, President; Nancy Luce, Recording Secretary; Connie Howard, Corresponding Secretary; and Susan Thieme, Vice President. (STANDING): Angela Smith, Jo Jacobs, Brenda Haggerty, Barbara Pancake, Janelle Stauffer, Toni Rausch, Kay Zigler, Luda Berko, and Sharon Highley.

Activities

Under the direction of Mr. James Clouser, the choir saw a year of many and varied concerts throughout the city. Concerts were presented in the winter and again in the spring. The singing students provided entertainment for the medical staff at the annual Doctor's Smorgasbord in December. During the Christmas season, the choir performed at various churches as well as caroling at the Glenbrook Mall. Plans were made to visit other cities in the future. It was a good year for choir members as they expressed their emotions in song. Members included: (ROW ONE left to right): Kathy Springer, Gayle Leslie, Sue Burkdoll, Donelle Strand, Cynthia Kintzel, Angela Smith, Cheryl Lyon, Beth Jerome, Martha Smith, Jo Peter, Kay Boaz, Barbara Hobart, Secretary-Treasurer; Geraldine Eichorn; and Mary Lou Sunderman, Accompanist. (ROW TWO): Rachel Harmon, Nila Watson, Colleen Murray, Kathy Beers, Nancy Koehler, President; Marilyn Swain; Joan Fegley; Bonnie Faller; Jo Ann Hile; Alice Mosier; Connie Howard; Judy Hinkle; Cheryl Newcomb; Betty Niccum; Cindy Seslar; Judy Pancake; Dianne Lengacher. (ROW THREE): Charlotte Elam, Debbie DeVaney, Rita Rohrs, Lori Howard, Linda Lees, Lynette Eaton, Beverly Espich, Kathy Webb, Donna Badenhop, Janis Fast, Claudia Legge, Mary Cotterman, Marilyn Kelley, and Kris Fuelling. (ROW FOUR): Ann Kammeyer, Rhonda Christner, Karen Sherck, Trudy Rider, Vice President; Janelle Stauffer, Myrna Hoke; Nancy Seibert; Janice Laukhuf; Leslie Wilcox; Jo Sierer; and Sharon Sutter. (not pictured): Cheryl Lee, Cindy Friend, Bonnie Marden, and Toni Rausch. Director: Mr. James Clouser.

Add to S.N.'s

The yearbook staff worked long hours to provide the student body with a book of memories to be cherished for many years to come. Members are: (SEATED left to right): Bonnie Marden, Editor; and Alice Mosier, Co-Editor. (STANDING): Colleen Murray, Linda Lees, Shari Miller, Kris Fuelling, Carol Miller, Mary Lou Sunderman, Toni Rausch, Kay Zigler, Lynn Ward, Kathy Noneman, Cheryl Lee, Cindy Seslar, and Patsy Yoder. (not pictured): Verlinda Frysinger.

Education.

Relax—Have Fun!

Every year, Parkview students participate in many activities; some money-making, some entertaining, some competitive, and some just plain fun. Pictured here are just a few of these activities. Clockwise beginning in the upper left hand corner are: Don Stroud places the top ornament on the tree at the Christmas party. Seniors dress up as toy soldiers to do a precision dance drill in the annual talent show. Juniors served hundreds of people at their spaghetti supper. Elaine Ford and Cindy Anders display the trophy won at the Little Lemans. Beverly Espich and Jackie Brook "ham it up" at the Halloween party.

SENIORS

Here we are, graduating! It's really a little hard to fathom. So much has happened since September 6, 1966.

We certainly have changed since those first rough and stormy "probie" days. We've made friends, we've learned, our horizons have broadened, our ideals have grown. Still there is more than that. It's hard to describe . . . that unique sense of oneness, that feeling of unity, that ability to recognize our problems and solve them among ourselves. Gradually that feeling spread. It was contagious . . . a football game, parties, singing in the halls . . . and we emerged as one, unified and strong, moving, growing, progressing.

We, the class of 1969, have been singing a song for three years now. We have learned its meaning and developed it. Now as we go on to learn and grow elsewhere, may our song ever remain--"NO MAN IS AN ISLAND: NO MAN STANDS ALONE".

We Came . . .

CYNTHIA LORRAINE ANDERS
"Sam" . . . frosted hair . . . Long distance from Angola . . . "If Ed calls, tell him I love him" . . .
"Oh, crud!" . . .

DEBBIE DEANN BRUDI
"Deb" . . . loves TKE parties . . .
Wake up, Brudi, class is over now
. . . inventor of the Brudi special
. . . gentle, meek, and mild-- most of the time . . .

Cindy Anders, Nancy Roush, Linda Schatz, Sharon Highley, and Barb Pancake prepare for the now famous football game. Can you guess where "Higley" is?

KATHLEEN ANN COIL
"Coilski" . . . a letter from Lybia
. . . "But, it's ONLY forty pages long" . . . ambition personified
. . . "I could care less" . . .

PHYLLIS ANN CROAFF
"Phyl" . . . deeply attached to a red Malibu . . . "Uncle Sam wanted me" . . . all the way down to a size ten . . .

We Studied . . .

JOYCE CLICK DISLER
Heart lies in Colorado . . .
"Tweety had three flats in a week!"
. . . hates the Army . . . a ready smile . . .

ANN N. ENGLE
"Ann the Man" . . . S.N., housewife, and mother . . . rides a Honda . . . "But, I haven't even studied!" . . . energy plus . . .

A triple starch bath was in order for Nancy Roush, Verlinda Bryan, and Susie Snyder following our 1968 Christmas vacation. They were wet, but very happy.

ELAINE JOY FORD
"Lainie" . . . Ford has a better idea . . . "Dance? Where?" . . .
Fats . . . "Yell when you're done with the shower." . . .

CYNTHIA SUE FRIEND
"Cindy" . . . Homemaker . . .
"You guys!" . . . "Bill likes kids"
. . . counts calories for everyone

We Laughed . . .

VERLINDA BRYAN FRYINGER
 "Jo" . . . "Verley" . . . gets up at six fifteen every morning . . .
 make-up expert . . . "Who will babysit for my guinea pig?" . . .

KRISTINE KAY FUELLING
 "Kristopher" . . . the Rembrandt of the dorm . . . Miss Congeniality
 . . . "I do not look like Carol Burnett!" . . .

Help, we're being invaded! No, wait, it's just our neighbors from across the hall. Susie Thieme and Janice Sparks have really flipped!
 Oh, well, life in the dorm.

SHARON KAY HACKWORTH
 Most improved junior . . . "If I can pass chemistry, anybody can." . . .
 did you get a new robe? . . . devil in disguise . . .

SHARON KAY HIGHLEY
 "Higley" . . . puppy eyes . . .
 "Steve and I are getting married in two to five more years" . . . great orator . . .

We Played . . .

SHERYL CAMPBELL HOSFIELD

A banker's wife . . . "Roy's a wonderful person." . . . NCF president . . . "Oh, no!" . . . an expert in delivery room . . .

MARILYN SUE KELLEY

Long black hair . . . sharp sense of humor . . . quiet-spoken, some of the time . . . a Laugh In fan . . .

It was 200 days until graduation, and that called for something special. What more fitting than a "snow nurse" to proclaim the occasion? Cheryl Lee and Carol Miller pose with their handiwork. Oh yes, the snowman is in the middle!

MARY ANN THOMAS LaRUE

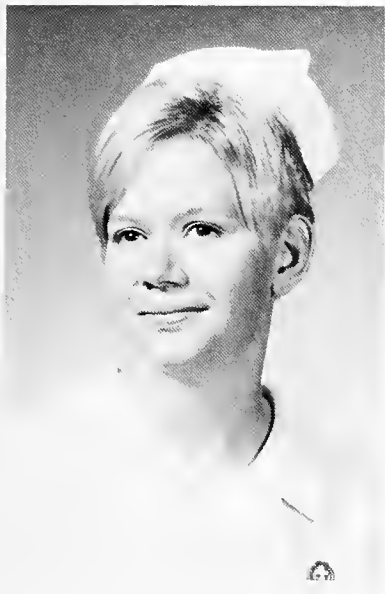

"Matt" . . . first girl to be married . . . "I could care, I could really care!" . . . Norman, I wuv him." . . .

NANCY ALLSHOUSE LARSEN

JACQUELINE BRAID LINDER

"Jacque" . . . never has anything to wear . . . "Oh, that's ridiculous!" . . . what is a Shipshewana? . . .

Mrs. Alexander talks to the "doctor" at the open house. Surprise! The "doctor" is Kris Fuelling.

CHERYL JEAN LYON

"Cher" . . . outstanding halfback . . . "Anybody for Eucre today?" . . . sorry, she's out . . . I have never walked in my sleep!"

BONNIE SUE MARDEN

"Bon" . . . twenty pounds of pelvic traction prn . . . "My hair is not brown!" . . . guitar player . . . needs eight hours of sleep a night . . .

We Learned . . .

CAROL ANN MILLER

"Millski" . . . first girl to be capped . . . "I was just sitting at the stoplight when--" . . . home on weekends to see Max . . .

BARBARA STEVENS MITCHELL

"Barb" . . . fastest car in the West . . . "Oh, I get it." . . . sweetest smile . . . "Oh, come on!" . . .

Moving day is the worst day in the life of a student nurse at Parkview. Everything you have managed to accumulate in the past two years has to be moved to senior floor. And what a job that is! Here Bonnie Marden takes a moment out to contemplate the mess.

KATHLEEN NONEMAN

"Kathy" . . . bowler of the year . . . "I'm hungry." . . . "Do your own possible." . . . needs sleep . . . collegiate . . .

BARBARA ELAINE PANCAKE

"Barb" . . . junior class president . . . "Dr. F. called you what?" . . . laugh for us . . . "Will you pay for your class pins?" . . .

We Sang . . .

19

This year that thirty eight hard-working student nurses long awaited, began in September of 1968. This was the year they could classify themselves as juniors.

It was a year of challenge and of excitement for them. With the new freshmen beginning their studies, each junior held the responsibility of acting as a "big sis" in hopes of guiding and making the year a little simpler for them. On arrival of the new freshmen, the class held a picnic and skit for their "little sisses" giving them an introduction to the road ahead.

With the turn of each season, the juniors had something new to look forward to. Striping took the lead in September when each junior received two black stripes to brighten her cap. In October, the Halloween Party added witches and ghosts to the hallowed halls. Thanksgiving brought with it a few days of vacation and then the long-awaited magic of Christmas came to English Hall. This holiday sprinkled new spirits and excitement into the hearts of each and every girl. Doors and bulletin boards were decorated with holly and evergreen, and presents could be seen floating from one room to another.

But, with all the fun and excitement within these months, also came hard work. The juniors sold candy and note cards to add to their treasury. In March the second annual chili supper was held. Then came the junior-senior banquet given in great appreciation to the seniors, our "big sisses".

As the seasons all passed, the junior year came to an end. During this year, each girl grew a little more in wisdom, stature, and knowledge.

For the freshman class, it was a year of beginnings. New friends were made, new experiences unfolded almost everyday. It was a year of frustrations and of exultations. But, most of all, it was a year of challenge.

The year began with the traditional big sis--little sis picnic. Hot dogs were roasted and songs were sung as the class of '71 began to familiarize themselves with their new environment.

The first twenty six weeks passed with a flurry of exams and new procedures to be learned. And then it was one week until capping. Every night we counted down the days, and then the hours. And, finally, that precious little white cap rested on our heads and we knew what it meant to be a student nurse.

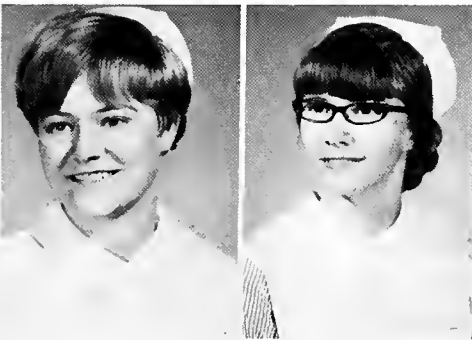

Yes, it was our first year. But, most assuredly, it was a very good year.

YEAR!

In Memoriam

We will remember the 1968-1969 school year for many things. Most of the memories will be pleasant. However, there will be one unpleasant memory connected with this year, the death of our friend and teacher, Dr. Mahlon Miller.

Dr. Miller had lectured senior student nurses in their obstetrics course for many years. His "experiences" added a personal touch to the lectures, and we always looked forward to the days when he taught us.

Dr. Miller was more than a teacher. He was a friend; thoughtful, pleasant, and very rarely angry. We were very saddened by the loss of Dr. Miller, but we are thankful to have known him and feel that our nursing education is richer for having known him.

1969 Lamp Sponsors

The students of Parkview Methodist School of Nursing wish to thank all those persons and businesses whose contributions made the publication of the 1969 LAMP possible.
